TERM	DEFINITION
Lib (Stunt)	A single-leg stunt in which the base(s) hold 1 foot of the top person's supported leg while the top person's unsupported leg is bent, and the foot is placed next to the knee. Clarification: Both knees of the top person are facing forward/same direction.
Load Position (Stunt - Coed Style)	A position where the top person has both feet on the performance surface, hands on the base's wrists, and the base has hands on the top person's waist.
Prep Stunt (Stunt)	A stunt at prep level where the top person is held in a standing vertical position. This would NOT include the following: flat back, straddle sit, T-lift, shoulder stand/sit, or other similar variations at prep level.
Release Style (Stunt)	Top person and bases break contact to execute a building skill. Release skills need to release from and return to the same base/bases. In levels 1, 2, and 3, skills will resemble a released skill where a spotter may maintain contact except for on the foot. Clarification: For release style skills combined with twisting skills where the bases cannot fully release the top person, a base may start under the foot of the top person if that foot is in the lib position and the skill still resembles the look of a release style stunt.
Ripple (Stunt and Toss Difficulty)	Two or more groups perform a skill(s) in pattern, sequential order, on pre-determined counts. Clarification: A single group cannot count more than once in a ripple.
Same Section (General)	A single portion of the routine where skills from a skill set are performed.
Structure (Pyramid)	Two or more top people in stunts connect, pause, and show a defined position. This is also commonly referred to as a "picture."
Synchronized (General)	The same skill is performed at the same time by two or more athletes/groups.
Twisting (Stunt)	Transitions that twist into, during, or out of a stunt – based upon the hip rotation of the top person throughout the initiation (bottom of the dip) of the skill. After the skill initiates, movement of the bases is allowed.
Unassisted (Stunt - Coed Style)	Top person and base perform a coed style stunt without any assistance, including the dip for the dismount. Clarification: Assisting with the catch of the dismount is allowed.
